

Six More Hours

Written by Jeff Berkley

Six more hours in this car
That doesn't seem like very far
To find you waiting at the door
I won't feel this pain anymore

Too much time
Has passed us by
And I can't feel my heart
Without you by my side

The sun sets down upon the hills
So I chase the daylight through the fields
Up and over westward ho
This road is leadin' me home

California
Here I come
'Cause I can't mend my soul
Without my only one

Well I wander around from town to town
But you've never tried to slow me down
Always filling up my spirit
I can take the music where they'll hear it

All this ramblin'
Has brought me near
So watch for my headlights
I promise I'll be there

I want to make things right
And take away your tears
